Think It Funny.

Some of our newspaper friends are having a lot of fun out of our saying that we never asked or begged anyone to take The Record. This is our rule, boys, and, another thing, we have never yet continued to send the paper to anyone who has even intimated that he didn't want it. Possibly this is because we have a sympathy for those who have to read our miserable, but humble scrawlings.

Just A Word, Please.

Say, ye capitalists, will you let The Record whisper a word in your ear? Why not put some of your surplus cash in some enterprise here at home, where you know it will not take wings and fly away, and you will get a reasonable return on your money? We started to make an estimate of the amount of money lost out of Lancaster within the last ten years, and with the help of one who knows (from sad experience too) we found that enough had been lost to pave every street to the limits with 18 karat gold. Yes, it would do this, and if you will figure a little you will see where the amount reaches to almost that extravagant sum. The desire to get rich quick seems to prevail more in small towns than in cities. Now, why not invest in some enterprise that will build up the town, something that will be a benefit not only to yourself, but to those neighbors and friends whom you love? There is not a moneyed man in Lancaster who is a skin-flint, nor one who will not help in a worthy cause, provided he is properly approached, but there's a wheel within a wheel all around, and if the "right man" would take hold of the matter, that hotel and opera house could be rebuilt, we would have a hemp factory and many other improvements and enterprises that could be made to pay right here in Lancaster. Stand up for your town, or move out.

For Enrolling Clerk.

Miss Amy V. Lyons, of Nicholasville is a candidate for enrolling clerk of the Lower House of the next general assembly. Being in Frankfort some time during the last session, we had occasion to see some of her splendid work, and her promptness and efficiency was highly complimented on all hands. Last week we had occasion to ask for a lot of papers and data in connection with Press Association business, and her promptness and kindness should be appreciated by the members of that body. She is a daughter of Wm. N. Lyons, an old wheel-horse in the democratic party.

Good Work.

At last meeting of the City Council it was found that the fines, etc., in the police court paid the salaries of the policemen, etc., and left more than $100 ahead. As this is the first time this has been done for quite a spell, it speaks well for the "Big Injun" and his faithful deputy, Mat Siler.

Capt. Austin Doing Nicely.

It affords The Record much pleasure to say that its good friend, Capt. Thos. Austin, whose leg was broken some weeks since, is mending right along, and everything points to a speedy recovery. Capt. Austin is our county assessor, and a faithful officer, too.

Nothing Doing.

During all our experience in newspaper work, we have never known news to be so scarce as during the past month. Business holds up with the merchants better than in any January for several years, but everybody is saying nothing and sawing wood. We don't know but what 'tis better so.

Breaking Hemp by Fires.

A telegram from Danville says the hemp raisers in that county are experiencing a great deal of trouble in securing hands to break the weed. W. F. DeLong, however, inaugurated an invention this week and now has seventy hands employed, who are working beside blazing fires. Other farmers will adopt the same method.

"Stokeey" Buys Fine Gun.

Danville Advocate:—Mr. Graham Price has just received from England one of the finest hammerless shotguns that is manufactured in that country. It is the famous Thomas Kilby make and the workmanship and finish is perfection itself. He was just eight months in receiving the gun from the time the order was placed, which is indicative of the time it requires in their manufacture. The wholesale price is $480, and a limited number of orders only are received each year.

Will Not Build.

We asked a member of the old hotel company in regard to the report that they were "figuring" on re-building. "No," he replied, "the same company will never rebuild. In the first place, I am not in favor of building anything in Lancaster until we get some fire protection. Then again, I am sore yet over the way some people talked about our building. The way some wiseacres, and their disciples talked about that house was enough to take the building fever out of any man. Then, another stumbling block is that we would not build unless we could be assured that another fire trap would not be permitted to be built alongside us. No, the present company will not rebuild, you can say, emphatically."

Sells His Farm.

Mr. Joe H. Arnold sold his farm Monday to Mr. J. C. Criswell, of Madison. The place contains about 115 acres, and the price was $42 per acre. Possession will be given February 10th. Mr. Arnold will move to the old Anderson home place on Lexington pike until he selects another location. There was never a cleverer man than big-hearted Joe Arnold, and we join his legion of friends in wishing that he will remain in this neighborhood.

The Engineers Knew.

When the No. 4 passenger train used to run through Lancaster, we were a frequent passenger thereon, and every time Cynthia was reached (about 5:30 a. m.) we heard a roaring noise. One morning we slipped into the cab of the engine and asked clever Johnnie Clarke, the engineer, why he turned on his blower so heavily at Cynthia? "Blower?" replied, Clark, "that's not the engine blower, that's Editor Jim Allen snoring." The other morning we passed Cynthia at 8:30, and hearing the same noise, thought it too late for Allen to be in bed, so asked Engineer Billy Manson if he had his blower on at Cynthia. "No," said Manson, "that's Editor Allen snoring. Passengers in the sleeper got to kicking on we engineers about this, and Mr. Hood had to come out and see for himself that we didn't make the noise and disturb the passengers."

High and Scarce.

Turkeys are getting scarce again and the price is higher. Time was when turkey was the cheapest meat a householder could buy. Last year the very palatable bird could be had at 12 cents a pound and that at the Christmas season, when the demand was greatest. Shortly after the Christmas season when the supply had finished, 15 cents a pound was the price. This year there have been alarming reports about the scarcity of turkeys and fears were entertained by many that the bird would not form a part of their Christmas and New Year's dinner. This was mere talk and the only effect was a raise in price to 15 and 16 cents.

Now the merchants say that a famine is at hand and the price has gone up to 20 cents, with a possible price of 25 cents a pound. With such a price there will be no more stories about the cheapest meat a householder can buy and roast turkey for dinner, cold sliced turkey for supper and turkey hash for breakfast will be no more so far as this winter is concerned.

Colored School.

The colored school will close Feb. 6th with appropriate exercises. Under the able charge of Prof. Louis Leavell, the school has done good work.

Straightening Out.

The trouble with the local railway mails has been remedied and we now have the best service it is possible to get. The mail clerks on the passenger trains got off at Rowland heretofore, and also had the mails delivered to them at that point. As the run to Lancaster is short, they didn't have time to work the mails properly in that time, so the Department ordered them to run to Stanford, and the mails are given them there in plenty of time to be worked for all points along this road. While it is true the present service keeps the postmasters up a little late at points along the line, yet the trains bring mail a good many hours sooner than people would get it otherwise. The people have "caught on" to the service now and realize they have a good thing.

Judge R. P. Jacobs Dead.

News of the sudden death of Judge R. P. Jacobs, of Danville, was a shock to the many friends and admirers of that noble gentleman in this city. He had not been in the best of health for some months, but went to his office Friday and Saturday, saying to a friend that he felt better than usual. He was taken suddenly worse Saturday and expired in a very short time. The deceased was one of the most prominent citizens in the state and as a lawyer had no superiors. His opinion was sought in every matter of importance in the courts, and those who accepted his advice upon any matter never had cause to regret it. He was a gentleman of refinement, possessed of a brilliant mind and superior education. He practiced law upon the highest principles, and had the deepest contempt for those who stoop to underhanded methods in the trial of a case. In January, 1879, Col. Jacobs was elected president of the Central National Bank of Danville, to succeed the late Col. Clifton Rhodes, and was continued as the president when that institution was reorganized in 1885 and denominated the Boyle National Bank. He remained the president until his death, and had served twenty-four years.

Col. Jacobs was a member of the faculty of the Central University Law School under former Gov. J. Proctor Knott, and was a member of the Constitutional Convention in 1890, receiving the place without opposition from either the Democrats or Republicans. In 1867 Mr. Jacobs was married to Miss Zillah P. Young, daughter of Dr. John C. Young, at that time the distinguished president of Centre College. Mr. Jacobs was a graduate of Centre College, and for many years had been regarded as the most profound lawyer in Central Kentucky. He is survived by his widow, but leaves no children. He leaves a vast estate.

CENTRAL RECORD.

LOUIS LANDRAM.

Lancaster, Ky Jan. 23, 1903.

It takes a great soul to be a true friend—a large, catholic, steadfast and loving spirit. One must forgive much, forget much, forbear much. It costs to be a friend or to have a friend, remarks the editor of the Jessamine Journal. There is nothing else in life except motherhood that costs so much. It not only costs time, affection, strength, patience, love—sometimes a man must even lay down his life for his friends. There is no true friendship without self-abnegation, self-sacrifice.

An exchange says: It may sound startling but statistics say it is true that more young men are learning trades in penitentiaries than out of them, because parents are trying to make clerks, doctors, lawyers, and even preachers, out of material intended for carpenters, blacksmiths and other trades for mechanics. The trouble is, that boys are eager to avoid the labor of life, and are too anxious follow some calling that does not soil their hands.

At the next session of the Legislature, a bill should be passed making cigarette smoking in public places a misdemeanor. The chance of success does not appear to be very promising because so many people are not interested and are apathetic and the opposition is so deeply interested and energetic; but, just the same, cigarette smoking in public places is a misdemeanor, if not legally, at least olfactorily.

At Galveston, Ind., Sunday night, a young rowdy endeavored to break up a Dunkard meeting, but the pastor's sturdy son tackled him successfully, knocked him down and fired him out in the snow. Once and a while a preacher's son is of some account.

One good thing about Congress is that it disturbs so comparatively few people. Probably half the inhabitants of the United States don't know it is in session, half of the other half doesn't care, and the remaining quarter are having a good time with the members.

The Bath county man who captured the December meteor which the Robertson county man shot on the wing, sold the gold brick to a Chicago professor, and the Cynthia Democrat observes that Uncle Hayseed doesn't get the worst of it every time.

Six people died in Louisville from lock-jaw, caused by pot pistols. A heavy fine should be put on merchants selling the dangerous things, and a well seasoned barrel stave applied to the archer having one in his possession.

Since the amicable seizure of sixteen car loads of fuel by the citizens of Arcola, Ill., the popular local pronunciation of the name of the place is Our Coal, eh?

Don't forget that charming ballad, "In the Good Old Summer Time." Let's see, how did it go? We seem to be a bit hoarse and unable to strike the tune.

If Congress has done anything worthy of note, no one has ever heard of it. But maybe the members have been waiting until the baseball war was settled.

The man with money to burn may yet be driven to the economy of using it for fuel.

The Same Here.

A leading Fayette farmer, speaking of the condition of the crops said, that never in his recollection had he seen the farmers in better shape or with better prospects for the coming year. He said that the tobacco crop had never been better and prices for it higher. The corn crop surpassed every expectation, while the winter grass is in splendid shape and the wheat prospects are the best in years. Although the weather has been disagreeable there has been little that was trying on stock, and because of the splendid grass comparatively little feeding has been required. "If the farmer is ever going to be satisfied," said he, "it ought to be now."—Lex. Herald.

"TALK SHOP."

Midwinter Session of Kentucky Press Association to be held January 27.

Courier-Journal of Jan. 9.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Kentucky Press Association was held yesterday afternoon at the Willard Hotel, in company with Mr. Thomas G. Watkins, president of the association, to perfect the arrangements for the midwinter business meeting of the association, to be held January 27. The members of the committee in attendance were Chairman Louis Landram, of Lancaster, and Messrs Thomas C. Underwood, of Hopkinsville, and Charles F Hart, of Morganfield. Secretary R E Morningstar, of Bowling Green; Mr Harry A Sommers, of Elizabethtown, and Mr John D Babbage, were also in attendance. The midwinter session is to be a business, not a social affair. The meeting will be held for the purpose of "talking shop"—the discussion of subjects of practical interest to newspaper men. Chairman Landram will make a report on the new advertising law passed by the last Legislature and will present the opinions of distinguished attorneys, one of whom is Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, as to exactly what the law means. Different county authorities interpret it differently, and it is the desire of the association that it be construed alike everywhere. If necessary, a test case will be made to obtain a ruling from the Court of Appeals. The law already requires that the claims allowed by the county fiscal courts should be published in the newspapers, but not half the counties obey the law. When Mr. Sommers was publishing a newspaper at Munfordville twenty-four years ago he decided to test this law, published the claims and sued the county for his pay. He won, of course, and yet a great many large and wealthy counties disregard this very necessary law. The Sheriff's settlements should also be published, but this is rarely done, though the taxpayers are entitled to it. The new law adds to the other legal notices previously required to be published that all public sales of every kind of property ordered by court should be advertised in a paper published in the county for three weeks. The benefits to be gained by such publicity and the prevention of possible frauds, it is easy to see, yet to many parts of the State the law is disregarded. It is a topic of vital interest to the newspapers of Kentucky, and it will be dealt with accordingly. Other topics will be discussed in short addresses by leading editors of the State. Mr Sommers is down for an address on how to make a weekly newspaper profitable. As he publishes one of the best in the State his remarks will be heard with interest and profit. Mr David Wallace, of the Warsaw Independent, will discuss the subject of advertising rates on which there is a sad lack of uniformity. Mr Robert W. Brown, managing editor of the Louisville Times, will tell of the use of the head line. Mr Charles M. Meacham will handle the patent medicine advertisement. Mr Charles F. Hart will describe what can be done in the way of illustrating weeklies. Mr C C Pare, of Franklin, and Mr John D Babbage will make five minute talks on how to print a good paper. Mr Young E Allison, of Louisville, editor of the Herald, will also contribute an address on a practical topic. Mr George E Johnson will add a paper of interest.

The association will assemble at 2 o'clock the afternoon of the 27th, and get through with the main part of the work. In the evening dinner will be taken at the Seelbach hotel and afterward there will be a "smoker" at which the discussion will be continued in five minute talks. No one will be tedious and all will "talk shop."

The meeting is not intended exclusively for members of the Kentucky Press Association. All regular newspaper men in the State will be welcome, and are urged to come. A printed circular will be sent to all such whose names can be secured, giving the necessary information. Newspaper men who have formerly been members of the association are particularly invited.

A FEW FACTS.

About the World's Fair at St. Louis In 1904.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition (the World's Fair) will commemorate the centennial of the purchase of the great Louisiana Territory by the United States from France, and will be by far the greatest international event of this character within the world's history. It will cover 1,200 acres of land have 300 acres of exhibit space, and will cost, approximately $40,000,000.

All Nations, States, Territories, Provinces and Colonies will participate and present in highly classified arrangement the achievements of modern civilization in the arts, sciences and industries.

Dedication of the grounds and buildings will be held with fitting ceremony, April 30th, 1903, the centennial anniversary of the purchase. Exposition will open one year later.

The price paid for the Louisiana Territory was $15,000,000, and the land acquired was about one million square miles, more than doubling the area of the United States at that time.

Total funds for the World's Fair to date, including the State and Government appropriations, $20,000,000.

United States Government's appropriations: $5,000,000 for general fund; $450,000 for building; $800,000 for exhibit; $40,000 for Indian exhibit; $8,000 for life-saving station; $250,000 for Philippine exhibit.

City of St. Louis appropriated $5,000,000; State of Missouri appropriated $1,000,000.

Balance of money appropriated by other various States and Territories. Main group of World's Fair Buildings arranged in the form of a fan, the art palace forming the apex at the southwest; large exhibit buildings will be fifteen in number, main entrance to be upon the Grand Avenue at the northeast corner of the grounds.

The administration of the affairs of the exposition is in the hands of ninety three directors. Important feature will be: The airship tournament, in which prizes to the amount of $150,000 will be awarded; the series of international congresses, in which distinguished savants from all parts of the world will participate; the great horse show upon fashionable lines; the dairy test, the athletic events, etc.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition will be nearly twice as large as any former exposition, and will show the life and activity of the nations of the world.

St. Louis, city of the exposition, 4th city in population in the United States, was unanimously chosen as the place for holding the World's Fair by a convention of delegates appointed by the Governors of States and Territories within the original purchase.

The Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway is the World's Fair line from Louisville, Owensboro and Kentucky points.

Morgan's Escape.

The reading public will be glad to learn that an authentic history of "Morgan's Escape" is soon to be issued. Glenn's Graphic, of Madisonville, Ky., will, on February 5, begin the serial. The incident of the thrilling escape of Morgan and his men from the Columbus, Ohio, prison in 1863 is well known to the readers of history. For an authentic account of the occurrence, no one is in a better position to speak knowingly and accurately than Capt. L. D. Hockersmith. He planned the escape, and led Morgan and his men from the darkness of prison cells to the gladness of bright sunshine, and is one of the two living men that participated. The lovers of romance and "hair-breadth 'scapes by field and flood," the story will appeal as few others.

Reception

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will hold a reception Saturday afternoon at 3:00 p. m., at headquarters in Masonic Hall, in honor of the visiting State President, Mrs. Francis E. Baughman, and the newly acquired members. All friends of temperance, both men and women, whether members of the organization or not, are invited to be present.

Praiseworthy Act.

Danville Advocate—President W. C. Roberts received a check from Hon. John W. Yerkes this morning for fifty dollars. The amount is to be paid to the student who makes the greatest progress during the present school session in Centre College. The student does not necessarily attain a higher mark than others in his class, but the award is to be made with reference to his progress during the year.

Mr. Yerkes gave $50 last year to be divided among the three students most in need of it, regardless of work accomplished.

Stick to Home People.

The country is overflowing with fake steel range peddlers, fake fruit tree men, fake jewelry men, fake everything whose ways are dark and whose tricks are vain, look out for them. Be on your guard. Do not permit any oily-tongued, smoothly-worded scoundrel who if his just deserts were meted out to him would not doubt be in jail, to inveigle you into signing papers about which you know nothing. You have in your own country town honest and responsible men to deal with, men whom you know will not defraud you. They are men to tie to rather than the roaming roustabout, whose sole aim is to beat the farmer, to beat anyone he comes in contact with. Patronize your home merchant.

Great Stallion to be Sold.

Richmond Climax—Mat Cohen will sell his imported Hackney stallion; Militia 2186, in the Embury, Chenault & Turley combination sale at Madison County Stock Yards, Richmond, Ky., February 11. Militia is one of the very best breeders ever in this county, and to induce some Madison county parties to buy him, Mat will sell him on twelve months time, with good note. Imported Militia will be No. 10 in Catalogue. Mr. Cohen has also received a letter from the management of the Boston Horse Show, asking him what inducements he would expect, to exhibit his noted stallion, Jack O'Diamonds, at their show, which will be held from April 20th to 25th. Mr. Cohen has submitted to them a proposition, the terms of which are private. This is a very high and deserved compliment.

Announcement.

As I am now receiving my Spring and Summer Samples, I take this method to inform my friends and the public generally that I am better equipped to serve them in the Merchant Tailoring line this season than ever before, and as I expect to make this a business, I shall give it my entire time and attention, and Eighteen years experience in taking measures enables me to say that no garment shall leave my place of business that is not entirely satisfactory in every way, and besides, I will save you a few Dollars if you will give me your order. My business last year was very satisfactory indeed, for which I thank my friends and patrons sincerely, hoping to receive their patronage again this season for which I will feel very grateful, and I will ask every one to call and see my samples, whether they buy or not, as it is a pleasure for me to wait upon those who are interested in fine tailoring.

Very truly your friend,
J. C. Hemphill.

Lawyers and Editors.

The question of the relative merits of lawyers and editors as to veracity, arose recently at a social affair, where both professions were about equally represented. Each of course, claimed the honors, but the final settlement of the question was left to a representative of each side. The representatives were to prepare essays and submit them to a committee. The best essay would decide the difference, and this was the prize essay:

"There is one editor in Heaven, though how he got there the Lord only knows, but it is supposed he rode in on the blind baggage, or got a pass. When they found him there, they tried to turn him out, but he refused to go; they then hunted all over Heaven for a lawyer to serve ejectment papers, but they could not find one, so the editor held the fort, and he is there to this day."

Satisfactorily Explained in the Bible.

New York Times—Hugh O. Pentecost, who fell out of orthodoxy several years ago, and since then has been climbing back again, told of a story that was sent to his Twentieth Century by a contributor. Although the point was against his atheistic opinions Pentecost was sufficiently "liberal" to see its force.

It seems that a certain Parson Goodloe of Kentucky was detained one wet night at a small tavern in the West. Among those who gathered about the stove was a youth who greatly "fancied himself," and when the talk turned upon matters of religion, gave utterance to some very heretical views.

"Why is it," said he pompously, "why is it that Jesus didn't answer some of the honest, brainy fellows of his time—some young thinker like me?"

"My friend," said the dominie, quiet ly, "you seem to have read the Bible to little purpose."

"How so," interrupted the young infidel. "I've read the Bible and there's nothing in it like that."

"Oh yes there is," answered the parson; you'll find the quotation in John twelve chapter, fourteenth verse."

"And what does it say?" asked the youth, scornfully.

"It says," replied Goodloe, calmly: "And Jesus, when he found a young ass, he sat thereon."

Life Is At The Worst

For the woman who enters on that period known as "the change." Life that has hitherto run happily and smoothly is thrown from its accustomed groove by a sudden shock, which jars the body and distracts the brain. The suffering of women at this period varies, but while some escape with little distress, the majority of women suffer more or less acutely at this trying time.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proves itself anew the friend of women at this crisis. It cures headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness and other womanly disorders, and perfectly and permanently re-establishes the general health.

A Woman's Recommendation.

"My physician said I was suffering from the effects of 'the change.' I wrote Dr. M. Barnes, of Baltimore, Md., Cal. I had heart disease and uterine trouble and rheumatism. My head was so dizzy I could hardly stand up. When I began to use Dr. Pierce's medicines I improved right along. I took seven or eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' a teaspoonful three times a day, and the 'Pleasant Pellets' at night. I feel as well as I ever did. I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's medicines to suffering women. I think they are the best medicines in the world. I can't say enough in their praise. The 'Favorite Prescription' cured me after I had been sick for two years so I was hardly able to be about."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss. Accept no substitute.

The People's Common Sense Medical Advisor, a book containing 1000 pages, is given away. Send twenty-one one-cent stamps for expense of mailing ONLY, for the book in paper cover, or thirty-one stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't keep too many fowls on a limited space.

It is inevitable that butter prices will be higher and they will in our opinion, continue high, compared with those of recent years, indefinitely. Hence we urge dairymen and farmers generally to prepare to meet the inevitable demand for butter.

Don't think it costs less to keep scrubs well than it does fine ones.

A writer has five acres in winter oats this year, sown Oct. 15th, and so far it looks very promising. The outcome is somewhat problematical as the only available seed was from Kentucky. Progress will be reported as to its wintering. We have since learned that the Experiment Station at Columbia has demonstrated the adaptability of winter oats in this state and that Missouri seed is procurable through Station advisers.

Does it pay to breed good colts and then allow them to rough it all winter on poor fare and little shelter?

R. L. Adams in the Scientific American describes the foot and mouth disease prevalent among New England cattle. The disease is propagated by germs, is highly contagious and is contracted by sheep, swine, horses, cattle and poultry and sometimes by man. It can be transported by dogs and by persons on their clothing and shoes. Cattle can get it by traveling the road over which an infected animal has gone. The disease has the nature of an eruptive fever. It was suppressed in this country nearly thirty years ago and had not been known since until recently.

A leading Fayette farmer, speaking of the condition of the crops, said that never in his recollection had he seen the farmers in better shape or with better prospects for the coming year. He said that the tobacco crop had never been better and the prices for it higher. The corn crop surpassed every expectation, while the winter grass is in splendid shape and the wheat prospect are the best in years. Although the weather has been very disagreeable there has been little that was trying on stock, and because of the splendid grass comparatively little feeding has been required. "If the farmer is ever going to be satisfied," said he, "it ought to be now."—Lexington Herald.

Jailer Chatham, of Harrodsburg, sold to Richard Gentry a fine pair of broke mules for $225.

Harry Lazarus, of Glasgow, bought of C. C. Davenport, of Bowling Green, four mules 16 hands high, 5 to 6 years old, weighing 1,200 pounds each, for $620.

The yield of apples in the Province of Ontario (Canada), for 1902 was 48,153,125 bushels from 7,024,890 trees of bearing age; average yield per tree 6.86 bushels.

Hudson & Page bought in Columbia 12 mules at $60 to $100; Coffey Bros., & Robertson bought ten at $75 to $100; Tandy & Price purchased an extra good 4-year-old mare mule, 164 hands high at $167.50.

The woman who can make good butter once a week is to be commended, but the one who can make it uniformly good every day in the week need look no further for a profitable vocation.

R. B. Park, of Elizabethtown, made one of the largest mule trades that has been consummated in Kentucky in twelve months when he sold to C. B. Teams, of St. Louis, Mo., 149 head for $19,000.

S. C. Carpenter, a stock dealer of Bourbon county, has just made the largest purchase of live stock ever made at one time in Bath county for the Southern market. He purchased 60 horses and mules for $6,310. The mules and horses will be shipped South in a short time.

J. R. Kimble, of Hardin county, sold to Hudson Bros., of Louisville, a pair of mules one of which weighed 1,450 pounds, the other 1,500, for $374. They were said to be the best pair of mules in Hardin county, Ky.

A large hog was recently slaughtered by L. R. Huffman, of Centerville, Ky., that made 250 lbs lard and 175 lbs sausage. This hog was a farrowed March 4, 1900, weighed on foot 800 lbs. and was a pure Poland China from the herd of George Clayton, of Hutchison, Ky. Why will some farmers persist in feeding their valuable grain to hogs and scrubs?

OLD PEOPLE

Do not always receive the sympathy and attention which they deserve. Their ailments are regarded as purely imaginary, or natural and unavoidable at their time of life. Disease and infirmity should not always be associated with old age. The eye of the gray haired grandparent may be as bright and the complexion as fair as any of his younger and more vigorous companions.

Good Blood is the secret of healthy old age, for it regulates and controls every part of the body, strengthens the muscles elastic and supple, the bones strong and the flesh firm; but when this life fluid is polluted or poisoned and loses its nutritive, health sustaining elements, then there is a rapid decline of the vital powers, resulting in premature old age and disease. Any derangement of the blood quickly shows itself in an ulcer, sore, wart, tumor or some other troublesome growth upon the body, and rheumatic and neuralgic pains become almost constant, accompanied with poor digestion and cold extremities.

S. S. S. being purely vegetable, is the safest and best blood purifier for old people. It does not shock or hurt the system like the strong mineral remedies, but gently and thoroughly cleanses the blood and stimulates the debilitated organs, when all bodily ailments disappear. S. S. S. is just such a tonic as old people need to improve a weak digestion and tone up the stomach. If there is any hereditary taint, or the remains of some disease contracted in early life, S. S. S. will search it out and remove every vestige of it from the system.

Write us fully about your case and let our physicians advise and help you. This will cost you nothing, and we will mail free our book on blood and skin diseases.

THE ART OF DRESSING.

A Few of the Fine Features That Are Noticeable in the Latest Costumes.

We have learned the art of dressing richly without looking clumsy and ponderous. We brought all that was beautiful in our last summer's dresses into our winter styles, and we now mean to carry all that is seductive in our winter apparel into our spring and summer garments.

Skirts present an endless variety. They are tucked, yoked, box-plaited, fluted and very much flounced. They have fans of contrasting material let in at the hem and one or two double bust-plaits at the back. In short all manner of skirts are worn, provided always they are full and flaring about the feet, for it is in this direction they are developing, says American Queen.

Tailored skirts are often seen buttoned down the front, at the sides or at the back. Skirts for outdoor wear are ankle length and usually have the seams ornamented with stitched bands of silk or velvet, while those for visiting and evening wear are made with trains and have the lower portion trimmed with crosswise folds of materials quite narrow or very wide, just as the wearer may prefer. Tassels, medallions of lace, perforated cloth trimmings, fur and embroidery, in which chenille, silk, and even leather are curiously mingled, compose some of the dress adornments on the newest models.

Buttons also play an important part in our dresses. Tiny gold buttons or flat passermeterie ones decorate our sleeves from shoulder to wrist. Tiny buttons, in sets of three, fasten the straps on our bodices and skirts.

The bell-shaped sleeve is the favorite shape for general use.

Elaborate twists of braid form a pretty finish to folded stocks of silk on cloth or tweed gowns and a pleasing note of contrasting color can always be struck in this way. She is a wise woman who pays great attention to her neckwear and considers it of equal importance with her hats. Here, again, fashion has made several alterations. She now decrees that our dressy hats should be worn off the face.

Hats generally are very sparingly trimmed; in fact, the less decoration a hat boasts at the present moment the more stylish is the effect; but do not imagine that this is easily arrived at. A bold outline in headgear can only be achieved by the master hand, and this must be put on with the greatest care.

Bodices are short and tight at the back, but still show a pouch in front over tight swathed backs, some of which are wider than ever.

Green still continues a popular shade for day wear—a pretty and very dark myrtle green. It is not universally becoming, except to fair people.

There is no doubt that smart dresses for the spring will show a tremendous number of flounces. If these flounces are properly graduated they add a great deal to one's importance. It is in the graduation, however, that success or failure of a flounced skirt lies. An inch too short or too long in the front will ruin the whole effect and put the figure in the most disastrous fashion, whereas the skillful adjustment of the same will add length and grace to the wearer.

HOUSEHOLD CONVENIENCES.

Practical Suggestions and Good Advice from an Experienced Housewife.

Household conveniences are not necessarily so much a matter of the outlay of money as "gumption." Architects are building houses where the maximum of convenience is crowded into the minimum of space, but even then brain must be used to make work easy. The home of the farmer in moderate circumstances can and does have conveniences that the wealthy did not dream of 50 years ago. The range with the presser boiler, the tank in the attic, with hot and cold water on tap, are within the reach of all. They will not cost as much as the ball money you may have to pay for some fellow who wanted "a slight accommodation," and will be much more satisfactory, writes Mrs. J. C. Erwin, in the Home Magazine.

Then a front porch, large enough for you and your neighbors, will develop a social spirit and help nourish the tender sympathies of life. If your house is not yet built, think what a saving of time and strength a cellar on a level with the kitchen would be.

A small cupboard over your kitchen table might be trifling in cost and mighty in labor saving, if all the things used in baking were within reach without taking a step. If you cannot buy such a contrivance, make it out of a box. A curtain in front looks as well as a door, and there is a certain degree of satisfaction in making our own conveniences. It is a pleasure to make a labor-saving device and a continual comfort to use it.

Time yourself at your work and never dawdle. It is a real pleasure to wash dishes rapidly, scald nicely, wipe deftly and then see how bright they look. But when we find grease settled around the dishpan, cold dishes and soggy towels, that's drudgery. To feel we are master of our work is what rests us; and we can be masters if we use all the powers we have—first, to see what not to do; secondly, how to do what is worth while doing with dispatch. The art of pushing work without fuss or friction accomplishes wonders.

Baked Celery. In winter when the choice of fresh vegetables is more or less limited, baked celery is very nice. Cut up the celery as for salad, and stew in salted water for ten minutes. Drain off the water, add a pint of milk, a roux of flour, and butter to thicken it, pepper and salt, and simmer for a few minutes. Butter a shallow dish, and strew the bottom with fine bread-crumbs. Beat one egg, and pour into the celery and put into the baking-dish. Strew bread-crumbs over the top and bake for 30 minutes.—N. Y. Post.

HOPED TO FRIGHTEN HER.

"No, Charles, dear, I shall never marry. I shall spend the rest of my life in a nunnery."

"Well, Aurelia, if you do that, I shall spend the rest of my miserable existence in a—n—n—a nunnery."—Ally Sloper.

Unpoetical Willie. Willie tried to tack the carpet. Willie's thumb received a slam, made Willie very angry. And he softly murmured: "Mother, mother, bring the liniment."—Columbia Jester.

Caught. Mr. Reuben Eck—Doing some shopping for your mother to-day, weren't you?

Miss Grownseere (unwarily)—No, I was quite selfish to-day. All I did was for myself. Why?

Mr. Reuben Eck—I saw you going into the false hair emporium.—Philadelphia News.

Long Draws Out. Bacon—That man we heard last night has become a polished speaker, hasn't he?

Egbert—Yes; but it looked to me at one time that he was never going to be a finished one.—Yonkers Statesman.

Automobile. "See, here," said the ward worker, "you ain't doin' what you promised before you got elected."

"Great heavens, haven't you been in the business long enough not to be surprised at that?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Decided Improvement. "Do you think the world is getting better?"

"Certainly," answered Senator Sorghum. "Why, I'm making thousands of dollars where I formerly made only hundreds."—Washington Star.

No Incumbrance. "Do you think they will live happily?"

"Undoubtedly! She has no relatives except an aunt who lives abroad, and all of his are dead."—Brooklyn Life.

Foreign Language. Little Oscar—Pop, this book says the Chinese are full of idiosyncrasies. What is an idiosyncrasy?

Mr. Gessem—How in thunder do I know. I never studied Chinese.—Chicago American.

Where the Trouble Lies. "It's no trouble to get an honest penny."

"No?"

"Certainly not. The trouble is to get an honest $100,000."—Brooklyn Eagle.

An Obstreperous Boss. Wantanoo—Why did you quit your job? Didn't your work suit your employer?

Dunno—Yes, but the stubborn old fool wouldn't let me convince him of it.—Los Angeles Herald.

He Got One. Edith—But kissing has again been declared dangerous.

Tom—Well, you know I promised to go through any danger for you.—Chicago Daily News.

Fitted for It. "Mrs. Flanders tells me she has gone in for a course of health culture."

"Well, she always did have a magnificent constitution."—Life.

So Like a Bargain. "I thought she refused him some time ago because he was so fat?"

"Well, she did; but since then he's been reduced from 200 to 195."—Brooklyn Life.

Straight Tip. He (cautiously)—What would you say if I should ask you to be my wife?

She (more cautiously)—Why don't you ask me and find out?—Chicago Daily News.

Gone Up in Smoke. "Did you invest that nickel for me?"

"Sure, Willie. I put it into the cigarette trust."—Chicago American.

For sale by all Druggists.

When a woman arrives three minutes late at a railway station she imagines the engineer saw her coming and pulled out for spite.—Chicago News.

Croup. The peculiar cough which indicates croup, is usually well known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Do not waste valuable time in experimenting with untried remedies, but no matter how highly they may be recommended, but give this medicine as directed and all symptoms of croup will quickly disappear. For sale by all Druggists.

An Irish humorist once said: "The best joke I ever wrote I forgot before I could write it down."

For a bad taste in the mouth take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price 25 cents. Warranted to cure. For sale by all Druggists.

Women stand a good deal when the men in a crowded street car refuse to give up their seat.

Rev. Charles P. E. Martin, D. D. Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first rising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm, which produces a cough, and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons, needing a medicine for 'throat or lung troubles.' Price 25c, 50c, $1.00 bottle at R. E. McRoberts, drug store."

Gentlemen are necessarily conceited because a gentleman never forgets himself.

Simple Colds. Cease to be simple, if at all prolonged. The safest way is to put them aside at the very beginning. Ballard's Horehound Syrup stops a cold and removes the cause of colds. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottle at R. E. McRoberts, drug store.

Never judge a woman's cooking the apologies she makes for it.

If Unwell. Try a 50c bottle of Herbine, notice the improvement speedily effected in your Appetite, Energy, Strength and Vigor. Watch how it brightens the spirits, gives freedom from Indigestion and Debility!

Issac Story, A. Va. Mo., writes, Sept. 10th, 1900. "I was in bad health, I had stomach trouble for 12 months, also dumb chills. Dr. J. W. Mory prescribed Herbine, it cured me in two weeks. I cannot recommend it too highly, it will do all you claim for it."
